

CORPORATE FUNDING SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

WHY KEYSTONE SYMPOSIA?

Keystone Symposia was founded on the philosophy that partnerships with academic and industry sectors spur scientific, technological and translational advances and innovations that ultimately achieve greater impacts on research, patients, and society. As such, life science industry partners have always been invaluable to Keystone Symposia's mission and success.

These partnerships provide benefits to both parties:

- Financial support from leading biotechnology, pharmaceutical and other life-science companies is a critical resource for conference program expenses, as well as diversity and career-development initiatives that provide training opportunities for next-generation scientists.
- Partners receive access and visibility to key audiences and customers in life-science research from around the world, spanning diverse regions and disciplines.
